

Rural Voices Matter

Participate in a Rural Health Communication Study

Researchers at James Madison University are partnering with rural Virginia communities to better understand:

- ✓ What “rural” means to you
- ✓ What health resources your community is proud of
- ✓ What challenges or gaps still exist
- ✓ How health communication can be improved

Who Can Participate?

Adults (18+) who live in, work in, or are actively engaged in rural Virginia communities.

What's Involved?

- Interviews
- Small Group Discussions

$50 compensation per hour of time/interview

Participation is voluntary and confidential.
